AI firm drops $1.5-bn deal with Infosys

They are also of the opinion that the market has become so competitive that the particular client might have got better terms from some other IT vendor. After a historic Q2 marked by numerous billion-dollar deals, IT companies are now competing a nearly dry Q3. The dearth of such mega deals in Q3 comes on the back of IT leaders echoing during Q2 earnings calls that new deals are getting neutralised as digital transformation projects are getting completed or coming to an end. The replacement of old deals by new deals are also at a slower pace. K Krithivasan, CEO of TCS, noted during an earnings call, "The newly won deals are converting into revenue as expected, but these revenue inflows are getting neutralised by reduction in the existing revenue base as the transformation projects get completed, or RTB (run the business) projects get optimised, or in some cases, downsized."

A year when sedans moved in slow lane

ACCORDING TO ANALYSTS, launches such as the Verna provided a slight boost to sedans, but over time buyers shifted back to SUVs. "Thanks to the new City and Verna launches in March, sedan sales rose a whopping 64.3% in April, but in the following months customers went back to SUVs," an analyst said. Saket Mehra, partner & auto sector leader at Grant Thornton Bharat, said while brand loyalty (amongst existing sedan consumers) and new launches like the City and Verna may persuade a percentage of buyers to opt for sedans, overall consumer sentiment is more inclined towards feature-rich, high much lower). Coupled with new launches, this attracted a section of buyers. However, over time, automakers pumped up SUV production (as semiconductor shortage eased) and now with SUV waiting periods substantially reduced, these have become the primary choice of customers. But possibly the biggest reason for increasing popularity of SUVs is the sheer choice in terms of models. "Agreed, we had the new City and Verna this year, but don't forget the year saw far more SUV launches—Maruti Suzuki Fronx and Jimny, Hyundai Exter, Honda Elevate and Citroën C3 Aircross, amongst others—and so the SUV choice was much wider than sedans," according to an analyst. While sales of premium sedans have dropped, sub-4 metre sedans are holding their own, at least as of now. These are more functional – for example, a Maruti Suzuki Dzire can have a CNG tank fitted in the boot space and thus very low running costs. Similarly, someone who wants a Honda badge and quality for ₹8-9 10 lakh, can get it in the Amaze, instead of spending ₹15-odd lakh on the Elevate SUV. "These sub-4 metre sedans (others are Hyundai Aura and Tata Tigor) will continue attracting the no-frills, functional buyer," the analyst said.

ICICI-Sec leases 1.88 lakh sq ft in Navi Mumbai

This is one of the major office lease deals after the Union Government allowed floor-wise and partial denotification in IT special economic zones, which means IT parks can lease a portion of space to firms earning income in rupee terms. ICICI Securities already owns a back office in Navi Mumbai and now it has taken a larger area for the same, people in the know said. Recently, Reliance Nippon Life Insurance leased 48,924 square feet space in Inspire BKC, a commercial

This is part of Akshaya Today, a 21-acre mini-township at Kelambakkam. The homes to be managed by SCAN and Vidya Sagar will have co-living facilities for adults with special needs, a therapy centre, a vocational centre and supported employment options within the campus. In Delhi (NCR), the Action For Autism (AFA) has set up Ananda for persons with autism spectrum conditions and developmental disabilities. AFA's Ananda is a group home that offers long-term support when parents age or pass away and respite services for families who require a short stay for their children during times of medical situations in the family, travel or just to give adults a break from their families. Instead of leading devalued lives in soulless institutions or ending up on the streets, at Ananda, they live around a community with a family-like environment with training support and vocational activities. Coimbatore-based CovaiCare has homes for people with special needs located within their retirement community. They were the first to come up with the inclusive living model whereby people with disability (autism, Down syndrome and cerebral palsy) could live with their parents.

On the demise of the parents, the CovaiCare Trust takes care of them and helps them live comfortably. Anita Iyer Narayan, diversity, inclusion and accessibility consultant and managing trustee of Ekansh, a non-profit organisation based in Pune, working towards the inclusion and empowerment of persons with disabilities, said more such homes were needed for adults with intellectual and physical challenges. "We receive several calls asking if there was some place for them. While moneyed people have a place to go, middle-class and poorer people struggle to find a secure decent home for their own," Iyer said.

NO CASUALTIES IN DRONE HIT

Merchant vessel with 21 Indians attacked

The Navy has dispatched a frontline warship for safety of the cargo vessel

AGENCIES New Delhi, December 23

A SUSPECTED DRONE attack on a merchant vessel with 21 Indian crew in the Arabian Sea off India's west coast caused an explosion on Saturday but there was no report of any casualties in the incident, according to military sources and a maritime agency. AP-81 maritime patrol aircraft, deployed by the Indian Navy after the United Kingdom Maritime Trade Operations, or UKMTO, reported the incident, ascertained the safety of the vessel and its crew, Indian military sources said. An attack by Uncrewed Aerial System (UAS) on a vessel 200 nautical miles South West of Veraval, India, caused "an explosion and fire", the UKMTO said on its website. Indian Navy officials said a maritime patrol aircraft sent to the area flew overhead the merchant vessel and established contact with it. "The aircraft ascertained the safety of the vessel and its crew," said a Navy official.

Drone and missile attacks in the Red Sea by Iran-backed Houthis on commercial shipping are forcing shippers to change course and take longer routes around the southern tip of Africa

The Navy has already dispatched a frontline warship for safety of the cargo vessel. It is learnt that the Indian Coast Guard diverted its ship ICGS Vikram to the area where the merchant ship is located. The military sources said the vessel now heading towards the nearest port. The vessel was reportedly bringing crude oil from a port in Saudi Arabia to Mangalore port. They said out of 22 crew members onboard the vessel, 21 are Indians. In a brief statement, the UKMTO said it "received a report of an attack by Uncrewed Aerial System (UAS) on a vessel causing an explosion and fire. Incident 200 NM South West of Veraval, India." It said the fire was "extinguished" and there were no casualties. "Authorities are investigating. Vessels are advised to transit with caution and report any suspicious activity to UKMTO," it said. Indian news agency ANI, in which Reuters has a minority stake, identified the tanker as MV Chem Pluto carrying crude oil from Saudi Arabia. The hit on the vessel follows drone and missile attacks in the Red Sea by Iran-backed Houthis, who say they are supporting Palestinians under siege by Israel in the Gaza Strip, on commercial shipping, are forcing shippers to change course and take longer routes around the southern tip of Africa. "Merchant vessels are advised these types of attacks are typically targeted at Israel-affiliated shipping, but have in the past mistakenly hit previously Israel-affiliated vessels," British maritime security firm Ambrey said. "This event fell within Ambrey's Iranian UAV heightened threat area."
